Title: Walleys Weekly Update Timeline

This week update focuses on the history around Walleys Quarry which dates back to 1924, when it was originally a brick and tile works. The decades since then have seen it move through various ownerships and uses, including clay extraction and ultimately landfill. We have created a timeline which outlines key milestones in the site's history, including the Walley name emblazoned on bricks of buildings that still stand today. These are the facts that give an understanding of the background of the site prior to the last 5 years, an insight to its evolution to today, and look towards its future.
